'Excellence in a Caring Community'

Autism Acceptance week launched on Monday with an informative assembly to raise an understanding about what it means to have Autism. Children had opportunity to reflect on how everyone interacts within the world differently and we all have our own strengths and difficulties. Children recognised how showing kindness and offering help to others in times when things can be a challenge is so important. The week ended today by us all looking bright and colourful.

Year 2 have had some special visitors yesterday afternoon. As part of their English and Science work this half term, they have created a non-chronological report all about owls. Yesterday, they got to see a real-life Owl and saw first-hand all the features that they have researched and written about. A great way to end this half term's learning!
